

Getting things done!

Rustenburg – Saturday morning, 5 August, a planned clean-up of the Dorpspruit area in Kremetart Avenue took place, where overgrown vegetation and rubble were collected and removed.

The project was initiated and organised by AfriForum's Charnê Blignaut, AfriForum environmental affairs; Piet Botha, local government liaison of AfriForum and Tiaan Oosthuizen, AfriForum NW district coordinator.

Mpho Khunou, acting unit manager for Waste Management (RLM) said in an interview with the Platinum Weekly newspaper, "This will be an on-going task. The undertaking is to improve the environment and safety aspects of the community." AfriForum would like to thank local resident, Harry Rossouw for sponsoring water, Talisman Plant Hire for equipment as well as Crazy Skips. Help from community members and volunteers were also greatly appreciated.

The community is invited to join in the effort to keep this area clean. For more information on future clean-up dates, visit the AfriForum Rustenburg Facebook group at AfriForum Rustenburg.

CBD fast-food warning

Rustenburg – The Police are warning the public to be extra vigilant when visiting fast-food outlets in the central business district (CBD) area, especially McDonalds, Chicken Lickin, Nando's and KFC. The CBD area between Thabo Mbeki Drive and Bethlehem Street are the most affected areas.

"Be careful when ordering your food and leaving the outlet, street robbers are targeting clients visiting these outlets," captain Elsabé Augoustides, police spokesperson, said.

SAFETY TIPS:

- Always be aware of your surroundings.
- Never carry large amounts of cash with you.
- Remain inside a shop if you feel threatened and inform security or the police to assist.
- Report suspicious behaviour.
- Stop close to shops and walk briskly into a shop and get back in your car in the same manner.
- Do not leave valuables in sight inside your vehicle.
- Always lock your doors.
- Do not open your windows when a stranger knocks on the doors or windows.

Mounted units and foot patrols have been increased and deployed in the CBD area.

Protestor fatally wounded

Rustenburg/ Tlhabane – A protest action, which started on Wednesday, 2 August as reported in the Platinum Weekly newspaper in last week's edition, turned violent when the protestors again took to the streets on Tuesday, 8 August.

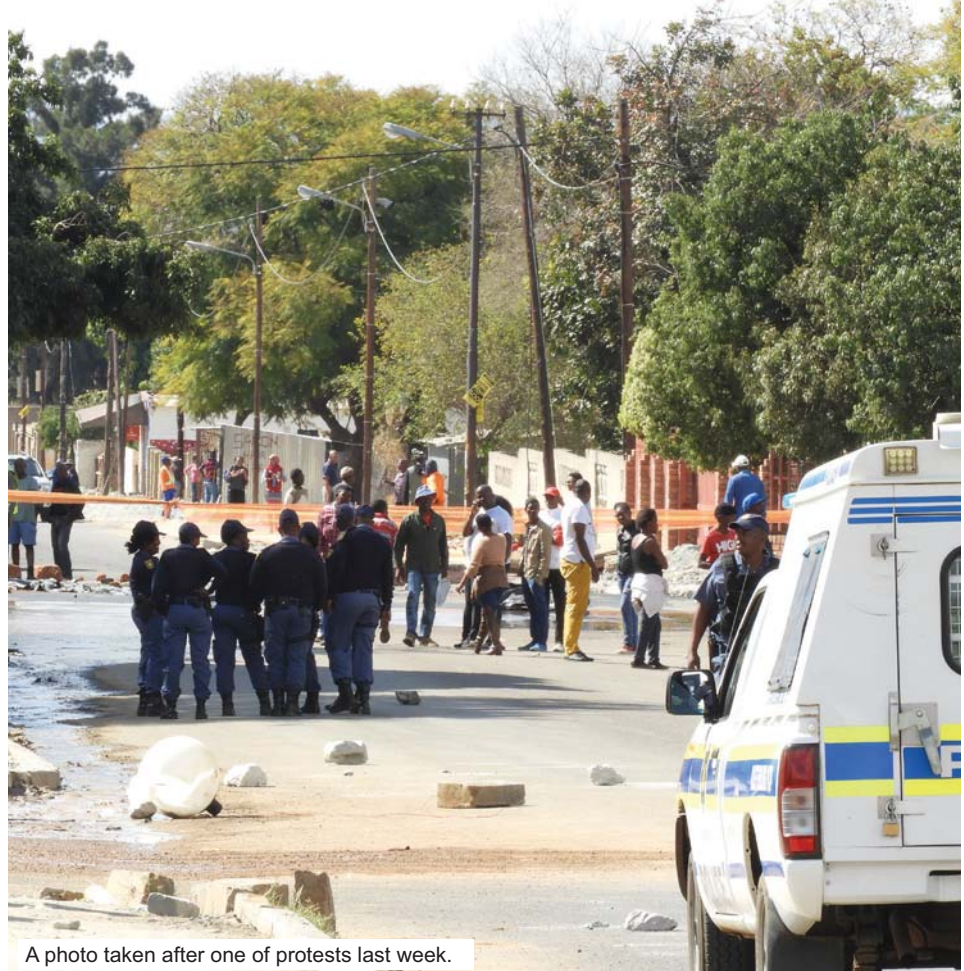

In the process, one of the protestors was shot and killed by one of the security officers on duty. Extra security was in place since the protest action last week. The man, 25, passed away in hospital shortly after the protest.

"The Police were summoned to the scene and 22 people were arrested for public violence," sergeant Ofentse Mokgadi, police spokesperson said.

The disgruntled Tlhabane protestors are up in arms over the construction of the new Tlhabane Mall in its early stages of construction. To voice their concerns, the members barricaded roads last week, for what they deemed as a lack of transparency.

"We want to know who got the tenders for the construction of the mall," one of the protestors said.
