Rustenburg needs a varsity!

Letter to the Editor

Rustenburg – When looking at the matric pass rate, one wonders about the future of rural grade 12 learners. The financial implications of their having to travel long distances to attend university is crippling.

The government and the Department of Education need to look at building universities in smaller cities like Rustenburg. We have over 100 schools in Rustenburg. Also, perhaps build small factories for skills development for future entrepreneurs in every rural area may be considered.
