Mrs World pageant to be hosted in Johannesburg

Candice Abrahams, Mrs South Africa 2016 crowned Mrs World 2016.

Johannesburg – Mrs South Africa (Pty) Ltd is excited to announce that they have received the exclusive right to host the prestigious Mrs World finals on 16 December in Johannesburg.

Joani Johnson, Mrs South Africa CEO, just returned from Nevada, Las Vegas to meet with the Mrs. World Inc. delegation for the official announcement and planning of the event.

"To host Mrs World Inc. in South Africa has always been a professional goal of mine. Having had Candice Abrahams win Mrs World in 2016 was a highlight for the company and for us to bring the World to South Africa is a dream come true."

Mrs South Africa has had a record breaking history on the international stage.

Candice Abrahams who was crowned Mrs South Africa 2015/6, represented South Africa at the Mrs. World 2016 pageant and competed amongst 40 of the worlds' most beautiful married women for the title, on the 12th of March 2016 in China, Dongguan, after hypnotizing the international stage with her timeless beauty, radiance and congeniality and she won the Mrs World 2016 title, achieving a personal milestone of being the first South African to be crowned Mrs. World.

Mrs World has been the longest and biggest pageant for married women worldwide. Over the years, Mrs. World has been produced in many fascinating locations around the world.

The new Tammy Taylor Mrs South Africa will be crowned on 17 November 2017 at Emperors Palace and will represent the country at the World finals hosted in Johannesburg.

Piekfijn Food and Wine Festival

Rustenburg – The Piekfijn Food and Wine Festival has become a highlight on Rustenburg's social calendar. Therefore, after months of buzzing, the much-anticipated day finally arrived on Saturday 9 September, as the fourth annual Piekfijn Food and Wine Festival was held at Bergsig Academy.

Many people, young and old enjoyed the day and were entertained by the many activities that the organisers, Lindi Krog and Werner Venter had put together for everyone. Activities and entertainment included a variety of food stalls, live bands, celebrities such as Jo Black and actors from Getroud met Rugby, a potjiekos competition, a safe entertainment area for the children, a beer tent and KWV's wine, brandy and gin tasting. There were 89 stalls in total.

The fun walk/run as well as an auction was held to collect funds for certain chosen charitable organisations. "I would like to thank everyone who attended and supported the festival, as well as our sponsors, who contributed to our success. The festival's purpose is to bring our community together, to have fun together as families and friends as well as raise money for multiple charitable organisations," said Lindi Krog, organiser.
