Child left in car, midday, in outside parking

Rustenburg – A mother left her child in her car in the scorching sun, in the outside parking of the Waterfall Mall. The child was left in the car without adult supervision – while mommy went shopping... Passersby who heard the child crying and screaming alerted security at once. One of the security attendees patiently explained to the child what to do inside the vehicle in order to get the window open, so that they could free the child without damaging the vehicle. "The child was freed from the vehicle at about 12h00 midday, the hottest time of the day on Monday, 27 November" Jessica Varty, marketing manager of the Waterfall Mall said in an interview with the Platinum Weekly newspaper. "We urge people not to leave their children, elderly, pets or anyone in their vehicles whilst in the mall. The heat over the festive season is no one's friend and can be very dangerous," says Varty.

Keeping a watchful eye at the SPCA

Rustenburg – The Rustenburg SPCA used to have 'receiving'-kennels, constructed to make it easier for the public to drop off unwanted animals in a safe, humane manner. This concept has worked well, until the SPCA started experiencing break-ins where food would be stolen. The receiving kennels has also been vandalised and animals stolen from the kennels on a regular basis. This has become a major headache for the staff at the SPCA. With a soft heart for animals, Andre and Melony Liebenberg from Schnell Networks came to the aid of the SPCA. A closed circuit television (CCTV) was donated to the SPCA; Schnell Networks provided the installation and equipment, free of charge, to get the cameras rolling on Friday, 17 November. "When we heard about the SPCA's dilemma, we knew we could lend a hand. We installed cameras in an effort to put an end to this problem," Andre said in an interview with the Platinum Weekly newspaper. Says Louise du Piesanie, manager at Rustenburg's SPCA: "We would like to thank both Andre and Melony, as well as Schnell Networks, for their most valued contribution. I'm sure it will go a long way to alleviate this challenge."
